Improve your English language skills in just four weeks with the online English for Global Communication Program. Whether your current proficiency level is beginner or advanced, you can improve your written, verbal and comprehension skills with this flexible and engaging program.

I really recommend this program to students who wish to make overseas friends, improve English skills and live a fulfilling life. I keep in touch with the other students after the program ended.

I got to know my online group better than I have with past in-person groups. Great, active participation and students were getting a lot out of the program.

Flexible online learning

The English for Global Communication (EGC) program is designed to work around your schedule through a blend of asynchronous (self-paced study) and synchronous (online class setting) delivery formats.

UVic instructors will guide you through theme-based learning activities during class time, with the addition of self-guided activities to be done through the online learning platform.

Asynchronous activities may include:

- Video lectures and dialogues
- Participating in interactive discussion forums
- Language listening assignments
- Grammar and vocabulary practice activities

Synchronous activities may include:

- Practicing the lessons learned in the asynchronous activities
- Participating in mini-presentations or debates
- Group work with classmates

This blended approach allows for flexibility and efficiency in working through the course learning objectives, while receiving support in your language development.

Program Features

- A manageable schedule of 10 instructional hours/week (40 hours total in 4 week) allows you to fit online studies into your other professional/academic activities
- Engaging curriculum led by experienced EAL instructors in a small class setting, allowing for frequent interactions and support
- Option to extend studies to 6 weeks total with a 2-week “Cultural Discovery” course (focused on Global Issues)

Also included:

- Social Connect activities that will allow you to meet and engage with others and learn about Canadian culture
- Student placement test to assign you to the best level based on your current proficiency, from upper beginner to advanced
- Customized orientation to introduce you to using the technology and assisting with technical issues
- Certificate of Completion (for students who receive at least 80% participation grade) from one of Canada's top comprehensive universities
